9:00 - 9:30 Opening Comments
Martin Kern, Chair, East Asian Studies Department (Princeton University)
Amy Borovoy (Princeton University)

9:30 - 11:00 • Session 1
Mitsuho Ikeda (Osaka University) “Making Medical Anthropology in Japan: A Memoir of Ten years in Osaka in the 1980s”
Amy Borovoy (Princeton University) “Japan Studies and the Critique of Utilitarianism in Modern Social Life”
Junko Kitanaka (Keio University), moderator

11:15 - 12:45 • Session 2
Junko Kitanaka (Keio University) “Containing Depression: Treating the Epidemic in the Age of Preemptive Psychiatry”
Karen Nakamura (Yale University) “Ethical Dimensions in Ethnographic Mental Health Research: Who is Protecting Whom?”
Jason Schwartz (Princeton University), moderator

12:45 - 2:00 - Lunch

2:00 - 3:30 • Session 3
Tsipy Ivry (University of Haifa) “Notes on the Changing Configurations of Reproductive Technologies”
Azumi Tsuge, Meiji (Gakuin University) “Exploring Norms and Rational Choices Concerning Reproductive Technologies: Local Meanings of Having Children in Contemporary Japan”
Janet Hine (Princeton University), moderator

4:30-6:00 Public Lecture by Margaret Lock – 300 Wallace Hall
The Alzheimer Enigma Amidst Global Aging

6:00 - 6:45 Reception
Margaret Lock Conference
New Directions in Social Studies of Medicine, Science, and Ethics

Friday, March 14, 2014
300 Wallace Hall

Schedule

9:00 - 10:30 • Session 1
Julie Livingston (Rutgers University) “Figuring the Tumor”
Vinh-Kim Nguyen (University of Montreal) “A Brief History of the End of AIDS”
Keith Wailoo (Princeton University), moderator

10:45 - 12:15 • Session 2
Adriana Petryna (University of Pennsylvania) “Local Biologies and Therapeutic Potentials: The Shadows of Global Health”
Everett Zhang (Princeton University) “Between Shenti and the Body: The Continuous Inspiration of ‘Local Biologies’”
Vinh-Kim Nguyen (University of Montreal), moderator

12:15 - 1:30 • Lunch

1:30 - 3:30 • Session 3
Susan Orpett Long (John Carroll University) “Imposing Order on Old Age in Japan”
Melissa Melby (University of Delaware) “Varieties of Menopausal Experience: Lessons from Japan”
Timothy Benedict (Princeton University), moderator